DIRECTORS GET DOWN TO WORK

Board of Rush County Chamber of Commerce Appoints Standing Committee Chairmen.

OTHER THINGS DISCUSSED

Advisability of Obtaining Band Concerts and County Agent Discussed.

Marked enthusiasm prevailed and a long list of important things were accomplished at the meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of Rush county at headquarters in the Odd Fellows building last night at seven-thirty o'clock. Nineteen of the twenty-one members of the board were present.

The appointment of the chairmen of the standing committees; consideration of the possibility of obtaining a county agricultural agent; discussion of public band concerts; the reading of a letter embodying valued suggestions for bettering Rushville; reports of the finance and executive committee and other important things relating to the advancement of Rushville and Rush county occupied the time of the board until after ten o'clock.

An enthusiastic communication from a Rushville citizen containing valuable suggestions concerning the lines of work the Chamber of Commerce may pursue was read and unanimously adopted by the board. The letter recites the special needs of Rushville to make it as progressive along all lines of public welfare as some of its neighbors.

The board was unanimous in the decision to lay special stress on the extension department work of Purdue university, and the sentiment was very favorable to the securing of a county agricultural agent to direct the work, as is done now in many Indiana counties under a state law.

The subject of public band concerts received special consideration from the board, and more attention will likely be devoted to this topic and something definite outlined later.

The finance committee reported the collection of the first month's dues practically completed. There are a few members who have not been seen. Only three or four of the list of over two hundred members have failed thus far to pay the first month's dues.

The executive committee reported to the board the selection of L. B. Smelser as secretary, and the renting of headquarters in the Odd Fellows building. The secretary reported the progress he had made in the collection of dues and the perfecting of the organization for work.

The principal work of the board was to name the standing committees, which will work with the secretary to obtain a number of improvements and to push public spirited enterprises. Only the chairmen of the committees and sub-committees were named last night.

The complete list of the personnel of these committees will be announced and published next week when the list of members is complete. It is the desire of the board to have every member on some committee. The sub-committees were named to facilitate work. The chairmen of the committees are as follows:

Finance—A. L. Riggs—Advisory committee on ways and means.
Retail Merchants—E. R. Casady—to work on local trade conditions.
Membership—Walter Hubbard.
Production—New industries, L. L.

FIRE CAUSES $500 LOSS

Roof Burns Off Flora Gray's House This Afternoon.

The residence of Mrs. Flora Gray, corner of Fourth and Harrison streets, was damaged to the extent of $500 by fire this afternoon about one-thirty o'clock. The blaze was confined to the roof and is believed to have caught from a defective flue. Mrs. Gray carried $2,500 insurance on the house and $500 on the household goods. Most of the furniture was taken from the house and was damaged only slightly. When the department arrived the whole roof seemed to be on fire and three streams of water were thrown on the blaze.

LOCAL MAN BUYS TELEPHONE PLANT

A. L. Winship is New Owner of Waldron Independent System, Purchased From Wm. Elsweller.

SAID TO HAVE COST $10,000

Albert L. Winship, president of the Rushville National bank, yesterday purchased the Waldron telephone system. Mr. Winship bought the plant of William Elsweller and is said to have paid $10,000 for it. The deed has been recorded in Shelby county.

The plant was originally owned by J. W. Buckingham of Morristown. Mr. Buckingham sold it the first of this month to Elsweller. Before the plant was sold it was necessary to get the permission of the Public Service commission and this was granted to Mr. Winship. The system is one of the best in Shelby county. It is an independent system. The Waldron plant has something like 265 phones. William Reed is the manager.

EGGS NO LONGER A LUXURY HERE

Two Reasons Are Given For the Bottom Suddenly Falling Out of the Market—Retail at 18 Cents.

COLD STORAGE DEALERS HELP

Eggs are no longer a luxury. The bottom seems to have fallen out of the egg market. How long this is likely to last is not known, but at the present time almost everyone can eat eggs because the price is right. Eggs today retailed at eighteen cents a dozen and it was stated that the price would be even cheaper than this. Two reasons are given for the drop in eggs.

The first is the tariff. Under the new tariff law eggs come under the free list. With no eggs, it is stated that hundreds of dozens are imported to this country every week.

The second reason is placed at the door of the cold storage dealers. The month of April is the time the cold storage dealers gather eggs to be placed in cold storage. At a meeting in Indianapolis recently the dealers agreed that they would not pay more than fourteen cents a dozen. The eggs that go in cold storage are bound not to cost the dealers over fourteen cents and the farmers wanting to get the best prices have started to unload and as a result the price is lowered almost every day.

HE WILL DISCUSS IRISH QUESTION

"Catch-My-Pal" Patterson Will Have Something to Say for Opponents of Home Rule

WHEN HE COMES TO RUSHVILLE

Famous Temperance Lecturer, Who Speaks Here March 29, Has a Message Worth While.

Coming to Rushville from Belfast, Ireland as the guest of the National Reform Association "Catch-my-Pal" Patterson the world famous temperance advocate will utter a word for the opponents of Home Rule in Ireland.

On March 29th Dr. Patterson will discuss the Home Rule situation in Rushville and promises to shed new light on this International problem which is so intimately associated with the Irish life in America. Dr. Patterson has studied the problem from every viewpoint and, having but very recently arrived from Belfast is in possession of the last word on the interesting situation.

The Rev. Robert J. Patterson, best known as "Catch-my-Pal", is one of the most interesting as well as one of the most important figures in the temperance world. He is one of the most learned and one of the most eloquent men in the ministry but he prefers to be known as "Catch-my-Pal" and no honors of the church or glories of office could win him away from mighty army of reformed drunkards who call him Pal. His name is Robert J. Patterson but 500,000 call him Pal.

All the world has heard of the "Catch-my-Pal" movement. Dr. Patterson says some of the world smelled it before they heard it. It began in the very depths of human depravity and there Dr. Patterson has kept his workers these many years dragging upward the wrecks of rum and re-instating them in the decent society. No man ever falls so low that one of Dr. Patterson's Pals will not go down after him and pull, haul, drag, fetch, or carry him upward; peaceably if possible, forcibly if necessary.

The movement has swept Great Britain like wildfire and men by the hundred thousand have enlisted. It is an organization of militants who can and who will fight rum anywhere, anytime and under any condition. Every recruit is sent out for his pal drunk or sober. When he has become fit to understand what he is about his Pals in the work take him in hand and nine times out of ten a pledge is secured. Once he has signed the pledge the Pals in the movement see that he keeps it. The methods are sometimes heroic but always effective.

This unique and marvelously virile movement will be described at length by Dr. Patterson who is one of the most entertaining speakers in the world. He was a commanding figure at the great Second Worlds Christian Citizenship Conference held at Portland, Oregon, recently and there the thousands called him out of his chair at almost every session. He was in demand at every meeting held during the world made intimate study of his methods with a view to early to their native countries some of his enthusiasm and experiences.

Dr. Patterson has none of the "horrible-example" methods in his offended against the individual suite as often as the individual has wronged society. He grapples with existing conditions with strong, clean hands and the man who designates spades

SET DATES FOR CONVENTIONS

Republican Central Committee Today Picks Saturday, April 25, to Name County Ticket.

NO JUDICIAL CONVENTION

Delegates to State, Congressional and County Conventions to be Selected April 10 and 11.

The Republican county convention will be held Saturday, April 25. This was the date selected this afternoon by the central committee, which met in the court house. The Republicans of Rush county are to be quite busy from now on and the short time before the convention will mean that candidates for county offices will be out shortly with announcements.

On April 10 and 11 delegates will be selected by the various townships for the state, congressional and county conventions. It was thought best to hold one township convention and make it do for all, as the farmer, at this time of the year, will be very busy. The Republican state convention will be held in Indianapolis April 22 and 23, and the county convention comes on Saturday of the same week.

The question of the selection of the township ticket was left with the precinct committeemen and if they see best the township officials can be nominated at the time of selecting the various delegates, April 10 and 11. Besides the trustee to be nominated from each township, a road supervisor will be named this year. This is in accordance with the law passed by the last legislature.

It will not be necessary to select delegates for a judicial convention because the candidate for judge and prosecutor will be selected by the county convention. In the past a judicial convention was necessary because of the fact that Rush county and Shelby county were in the same judicial district. Rush county now has a separate circuit.

The committeemen engaged in quite a discussion as to the time to hold the county convention. Some favored holding the convention even before the state convention. The date, however, was satisfactory to all the committeemen.

Thirty-five good Republicans, twenty-nine of whom were members of the Rush county Republican central committee, sat down to dinner today at the Seaman House as the guests of Fon Riggs, the county chairman. The attendance was considered better than at any meeting the committee ever held.

Confidence of victory in the coming election was expressed on every hand. The interest that is felt in the conventions which will be held is indicated by the fact that all but two of the committeemen were present.

"If we all work as hard," commented the county chairman, "next fall as we have at this table, there will be no doubt about winning."

"We'll do worse than we did to this table," said a committeeman from Walker township.

65 MILES FROM TORREON.

(By United Press.)

El Paso, Texas, Mar. 21.—Two brief dispatches received here today from an American correspondent stated that General Villa's advance guard was 65 miles north of Torreon and that the Rebels were in possession of the points abandoned by the Federals. These two dispatches apparently disprove the story Rebels had captured towns near Torreon.

HOLLOWELL HOME BURNED

Country Residence Destroyed at a Loss of $2,500.

The beautiful country home of Peter Hollowell, seven miles north of this city, was destroyed by fire this afternoon shortly after one o'clock. The origin of the fire is unknown, but when first discovered was confined to the second floor. It was first found by Will Arnold, who lives about three-quarters of a mile from the Hollowell home. The house contained about eight rooms and was valued at between $2,500 and $3,000. The amount of insurance carried by Mr. Hollowell is unknown. Mr. and Mrs. Hollowell were in this city at the time and the house had burned down before they arrived there.

TO REFUTE STORY TOLD BY THE "WETS"

Mayor of Marion Will Answer Critics at Richmond "Dry" Meeting Sunday, Announced Today.

RECORD VOTE IS EXPECTED

(By United Press.)

Richmond, Ind., Mar. 21.—That the vote of the local option election next Tuesday will be the largest ever polled in Richmond is indicated by the canvass closed by the "wets" and "dry" organizations here today. Effort is being made to have every voter cast a ballot and managers of each campaign say there will be few "stay-at-home" voters.

That both sides are well supplied with money is evident and that the total expenses will be several thousand dollars is probable. The "drys" today announced Mayor Batchelor of Marion will speak in the tabernacle Sunday evening to refute the charges of the "wets" that since voting "dry" Marion is filled with "blind tigers."

ATTEMPTS TO SHOW CAUSE

Roberts' Attorney Intimates T. H. I. E. is Back of Prosecution.

(By United Press.)

Terre Haute, Ind., Mar. 21.—Efforts were made today in the election fraud trial of Mayor Donn M. Roberts to show the T. H. I. & E. Traction company is back of the prosecution. Attorney Eph Inman, for the defense, questioned every salesman as to whether he owned traction stock, whether he was an employe or whether any of his relatives were so employed. No juror had been accepted at 10:30 Four had been excused and three dismissed.

URNS AGAINST HUSBAND

Mrs. Ada Williams Defends Brother Who Shot Her Spouse.

(By United Press.)

Booneville, Ind., Mar. 21. Mrs. Ada Williams, wife of Dr. Quincy G. Williams, turned today from her husband to the defense of her brother, Ernest Dimmett, who is on trial for shooting Dr. Williams.

"My husband horsewhipped me, pulled my hair and made me watch him burn my mother's picture," she said on the witness stand.

Dimmett's defense is that he shot Williams in defense of his sister.

TWO CASES GO TO HIGHER COURT

Suit on Note For $750 and Another For $1,990 Damages Will be Taken to Appellate Court.

MANY CASES ARE DISMISSED

Suit of Thomas Offutt Against George Fleener For Commissions Taken Off Docket.

Two cases will be taken to the appellate court from the circuit court as a result of the overruling of motions for new trials today by Judge Megee. The first case was that of William E. Inlow against John G. Lewis, on a note demanding $750.

The court found for the plaintiff in the sum of $802.64 and Dr. Lewis asked for a new trial. The argument was heard last week and the court in giving the decision refused Lewis a new trial. Notice was given that it would be taken to the appellate court and the appeal bond was fixed at $1,000 and thirty days given in which to file it.

The other case that will go to the appellate court is that of William Reddington against the American Creosoting company of Shirley. Reddington demanded $1,990 damages and was awarded $1,550 by a jury. He alleged that poison from the creosote plant killed a number of hogs. The appeal bond was placed at $2,000, thirty days were given in which to file it and ninety days in which to file a bill of exceptions.

The case of Jesse A. Shelton against John and Arnetta Webster for the appointment of appraisers was dismissed today. It is understood that the land owned by the defendants and which was wanted by Shelton for a school site in Walker township was purchased at the price set by the appraisers.

The case of August Ebbing against Walter Kuhn, who was guardian for the two minor children of Ebbing, was officially dismissed today. It was for the removal of the guardian. A new guardian has been appointed

Helping Those Who Help Themselves

That is a function of the advertising printed in this newspaper every day.

It helps those who want guidance in judicious buying. It is the story of the market place telling you what is best for your wants and where it is sold.

Frequently prices are presented in competition with each other, and advertising readers are always posted as to where their money will do the best work.

It is as foolish to purchase without first seeing what the advertisements say as it would beto purchase without looking at the goods themselves.

Advertising does not compel you to buy anything. It merely posts you so that at all times you can purchase to your best advantage.

It is only by making the advertising pay you that the advertisers can hope to make it pay themselves.

MOVEMENT FOR BETTER EGGS ON

One of Greatest Factors in Purdue Egg Show Which is Held Each Spring at Lafayette.

PREMIUMS TO BE OFFERED

Purpose to Encourage Greater Production and to Increase Interest in Poultry Industry.

There is in Indiana at this time, a strong movement for the production of more and better grade of market eggs. One of the greatest factors in bringing about this movement, has been the annual Purdue Egg Show, held by the freshman agricultural students at Purdue University. This year it is hoped to extend the scope of the work and make the sixth annual exhibit, which will be held on May 6, 7, and 8, larger, better and more instructive than ever.

The show was first organized in 1908, under the leadership of Otis Crane, instructor in poultry at Purdue University. It has grown each year until now, though a new institution, it is recognized by all who know of it, as a great factor in influencing the betterment of the poultry industry. It is backed by the Experiment Station and the Extension Department, and by the leading poultry men of the state.

The purposes of the annual exhibit are three: to encourage the production of more and a better grade of market eggs in Indiana; to increase the interest of the farmers in the poultry industry; and finally to the poultry men and farmers into closer touch with the University.

This year many valuable and attractive premiums will be offered to encourage the poultry men and farmers to enter eggs for competition.

Full information of the show can be obtained by writing to the secretary of the Purdue egg show, Lafayette, Indiana.

Notice of Election.

MILLION TREES MAY BE PLANTED

If Plans of Indiana Forestry Association Are Followed, This Will be Accomplishment.

ARBOR DAY THIS YEAR, APR. 17

If the people of Indiana follow the plans of the Indiana Forestry Association, 1,000,000 trees will be planted in the state on April 17 in observance of Arbor Day. If the people will follow this movement on such a scale for the next ten years a greater part of the denuded forests of the Hoosier land will be restored to their former grandeur. Through the work of the association and other forces in other years, there is very widespread interest in this conservation movement throughout the state, and it is annually gathering in momentum. The association urges the planting of trees on home lawns, in parks, about jails, poor asylums, orphan homes, in public parks, around city and country school houses, on college grounds, along country highways—anywhere and everywhere that trees will grow. Farmers are asked to plant trees in their wood lots, along fences and about outbuildings. Everywhere, the association hopes that April 17 will not only be marked by tree planting, but by speeches, parades and other public demonstrations which will promote the spirit of civic patriotism.

The association has its headquarters at 316 Traction Terminal Building, (the interurban station,) Indianapolis, and much effort is being given to promote the activities of the day all over Indiana. The officers of the association are President, Charles W. Fairbanks, vice-president, Charles Greathouse, superintendent of public instruction; Secretary George B. Lockwood; Treasurer, W. A. Guthrie.

TENORS ARE QUEER.

Old Time Opera Stars as Seen by Clara Louise Kellogg.

In "The Memoirs of an American Prima Donna," by Clara Louise Kellogg, the author tells of her triumph as Violetta in "Traviata." She argued that Violetta would probably love curious and exotic combinations, so she dressed the part in a gown of rose pink and pale primrose yellow that seemed to be altogether enchanting.

"Appropos of the Violetta gowns, I sang the part during one season with a tenor whose hands were always dirty. I found the back of my pretty frocks becoming grimmer and grimmer and greasier and greasier, and, as I provided my own gowns and had to be economical, I finally came to the conclusion that I could not and would not afford such wholesale and continual ruin. So I sent my compliments to monsieur and asked him please to be extra careful and particular about washing his hands before the performance, as my dress was very light and delicate, etc.—quite a polite message considering the subject. Politeness, however, was entirely wasted on him. Back came the cheery and nonchalant reply:

"'All right. Tell her to send me some soap.'

"I sent it, and I supplied him with soap for the rest of the season. This was cheaper than buying new clothes.

"Tenors are queer creatures. Most of them have their eccentricities, and the soprano is lucky if these are innocuous peculiarities. I used to find it in my heart, for instance, to wish that they did not have such queer theories as to what sort of food was good for the voice. Many of them affected garlic. Stigelli usually exhaled an aroma of lager beer, while the good Mazzoleni invariably ate from one to two pounds of cheese the day he was to sing. He said it strengthened his voice. Brignoli had been long enough in this country to become partly Americanized, so he never smelled of anything in particular."

Siren of the Snows

There's something that lives in the arctic gloom,
Where the lonely snowfields sleep,
In a land of night, where frost flowers bloom,
And the noonday shadows creep.

It hides away in the untrodden miles
Where babes of the north god play,
Luring men on when the northern light smiles
Like the blush of the dawning day.

The trail runs out in the breathless gloom,
And the dauntless voyager goes
Where a ghastly god has scooped a tomb
In the stifling bed of the snows.

She lures them out in the shifting dunes
On a trail that the north god knows,
Luring them on with her magic tunes,
The mad siren of the snows.

FOUNDATION FOR SOLUTION LAID

Admitted Mexican Problem May be Solved From Conference Which John Lind Held.

REPORT IS RECEIVED TODAY

War Department Puts Stop to Plan of Rangers to Cross Border to Recover Property.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Mar. 21—The state department today received a full report of the three hour conference at Vera Cruz between Senor Rojas, Mexican minister of foreign affairs and John Lind.

Details of the report were not disclosed. It is admitted, however, that a foundation was laid which may bring an important development in the solution of the Mexican problem.

When a rumor reached the war department today that a movement was on foot at Laredo for Texans to cross the border into Mexico and recover horses and other stolen property from assassinated Vergara,

Secretary of War, Garrison immediately telegraphed General Bliss to prevent such a raid. The report was that Texas rangers planned the expedition.

The attitude of Governor Colquitt was causing the administration much worry today. He is known to have ordered the recruiting of additional men "who can and will shoot."

Military experts here do not look for any serious fighting at Torreon until the first of next week. That the Federals will put up a stubborn resistance is considered certain.

We are authorized to announce the name of James V. Young of Rushville township, as a candidate for township trustee, subject to the decision of the Republican township convention of said township.

Figuring With the Democrats

There is no one to deny, when the figures are presented, that the first year of Democratic administration in the nation has been a losing proposition to the United States, considered from an angle of dollars and cents. Figures will not lie, Indiana people have found Democratic "economy" in Indiana a shimmering unreality, but how about the nation as a whole?

Take the month of November, 1913, as compared with the month of November, 1912. The importations for November, 1912, were $153,094,898. The importations for November, 1913, were $148,216,536.

For December, 1912, the importations were $154,095,444. For December 1913, they were $184,587,571.

In January of 1913, the importations were $163,063,438. In January of 1914 they were $154,469,263.

That is to say, during those three months under the Payne-Aldrich tariff act the importations were $470,253,780; under the present law for the corresponding months they were $487,273,370, or a difference of importations during the three months of $17,019,590. The imports in those three months of 1912-13 were less than for the corresponding months of 1913-14 by $17,019,590.

That is only one side of the picture. What is the other? Let us see what the government collected in revenue from goods imported during those months.

In November, 1912, there was collected customs revenues of $25,666,353. In November, 1913, there was collected $21,173,628. In December, 1912, there was collected $24,248,161. In December, 1913, there was collected $21,510,140. In January 1913, there was collected, $29,334,124. In January, 1914, there was collected $23,528,080.

Taking the total for the three months there was collected in customs revenues during that part of the year 1912-13, $79,248,638, and during the same three months of the years 1913-14 but $66,211,828, or a loss in revenue in those three months of $13,036,810, with an increase of importations of $17,019,590.

In other words, the American workman was prevented from the making of $17,000,000 worth of goods and the Treasury of the United States lost $13,036,810.

The impression is growing fast that the gymnasium that will be placed in the basement of the school building to be built on the east end of the Graham school grounds should be thrown open for the use of any persons in Rushville, under supervision, of course. It is a losing investment to keep such valuable equipment dark twelve or fourteen hours out of every twenty-four. School officials in many places have already come to that realization and are giving the communities the use of the school buildings for various purposes. There seems to be a sentiment in the present school board to allow the use of the new school building for all worthy enterprises and amusement purposes and it should be fostered and upheld.

Ralph Bunker, formerly a member of the Harvard faculty, who is now engaged in teaching the New York society folk the latest dances, says the Argentine tango, in grace and vigor, is unsurpassed, but admits that incorrectly danced, it degenerates into suggestive gyrations. He should have added that it is incorrectly danced by about 99 per cent out of every 100 and that would set things right.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

Party Pledge Repudiated.

(Chicago Examiner, Dem.)

Do not the republicans in Congress recognize the political opportunity which the determination of the democratic President to force the democratic Congress to repudiate its platform and bow the national neck before British arrogance offers them? There will be need for a party to which may turn self-respecting Americans, citizens who believe that the liberties won by the revolution, and defended by war and diplomacy ever since should not in a moment of profound peace and unprecedented national power be surrendered at the request of the President as a pawn in his weak foreign policy.

The democratic party, with but few honorable exceptions, seems content to accept Wilson as its leader and dictator, though he lead it to national humiliation and dictate only a policy of surrender.

What will it profit the people if the lesser domestic disorders be successfully quieted, but the way be left open without defense for foreign governments to enter in and enforce their demands upon our Congress; if, indeed, an invitation be not extended to foreign powers not liking our sort of legislation to call at the department of state and have the offense laws repealed?

The national independence written into the famous declaration by the democrat, Jefferson, defended on the bloody field of Chalmette by the democrat, Jackson, and reiterated in no uncertain phrases by the democrat, Cleveland, has been abandoned.

If the members of his party in Congress allow themselves to be coerced into abandoning the leadership of the great fathers of their party and follow the vague wandering of this will-o'-the-wisp over the marshes of party perfidy to the slough of national ignominy, they will find themselves in a predicament from which not all the officers still retained by the President for congressional bait will save them

This abject subservience to Great Britain is, after all, only the latest evidence of President Wilson's utter inability to rise to the stature of a truly progressive American President.

For the industrial ills of the country, and for the burdensome evils of the high cost of living, he could offer no better remedy than free trade—or as near an approach to it as he could cajole the party leaders wiser than he into adopting.

If he ever heard of reciprocity he gave no sign of the possession of such knowledge. If it ever occurred to him that the opening of our markets on more liberal terms should be made the occasion of exacting from the foreign nations thus favored some concessions in return, the thought was given no utterance. Like the typical college professor, he let Adam Smith and John Stuart Mills, do his thinking for him, and threw open our markets to our competitors as freely as he now turns over the Panama canal to Great Britain.

The same utter inability to apply constructive thought to new conditions, the same tendency to apply worn-out remedies to modern ills, was manifested in dealing with the trust question. In the zest of running amuck amidst the trusts, the administration forgot the great benefit of combination when properly regulated by law. It thought only of the outgrown policy of unrestricted competition, and broke up the telephone combination and others with ignorant disregard of the fact that they were of notable disadvantage to the people.

Foundering thus among the perplexities of domestic problems, the administration has been at its worst in its foreign policy.

Mexico which in 1845 we properly disciplined to its own good, and later protected against European aggression to show our good faith, flouts our government and outrages our citizens with impunity.

Japan insists upon interfering in our domestic affairs and no firm note of defiance has ever been sent her.

Now England presents a demand which President Taft resisted, the President quails before it and the democratic Congress bids fair to grovel with him.

In such a situation the democrat imbued with true Americanism will look about for a party to which he may belong without sacrifice of his self respect.

Democrats who repudiate the mastery of Wilson have but two courses open to them: They must break his power by defeating his aim to reduce Congress to a mere rubber stamp for the registering of his will; or they must leave a party which is weak enough to be thus misled.

If the latter alternative becomes necessary, a truly progressive, bravely American party would receive the hosts of recruits. The opportunity for the progressives and republicans in Congress has not had its like in half a century.

SHOWS VALUE OF CONFESSION

Rev. A. D. Batchelor Says Christianity is More Than Profession at Revival Meeting.

SOME MODERN KIND EGOTISM

Meetings Will Close Tomorrow at St. Paul's M. E. Church When Decision Day Will be Observed.

One of the largest audiences of the week attended the revival meeting last evening at the St. Paul M. E. church. The pastor, the Rev. A. D. Batchelor, preached the sermon. The minister spoke on the importance of the confession and gave the various forms of confession. His text was from Acts 19:18. as follows: "Many of them also that had believed came, confessing, and declaring their deeds."

The Rev. Mr. Batchelor declared that an immense quantity of modern confession of sin is sickly egotism. "God wants us to be specific with our own sins," he said. "The confession should be public. The word 'confession' literally means open confession. The Ephesians in the text confessed their sins in the streets, and burned up their worthless books of magic. It is so with God, he requires a public confession and open confession on our part."

The minister stated that the text was a strategic one in that it pointed out how men could get into the kingdom. He declared there was no other way than by confession of sins. The text indicated three forms of confessions. Many, he thought, were ready to confess the sins of others and to gossip about them, but what God required was the confession of their sins.

The speaker quoted Ruskin as saying, "Never call yourself merely a sinner. That is very cheap abuse and utterly useless. But call yourself a liar, a coward, a sluggard, or an evil-eyed, jealous wretch, if you indeed find yourself to be in any wise any of these."

"Men are not to confess merely their little sins or their big sins," he said, "but all their sins, to renounce them from top to bottom. Christianity is not so much a profession as it is a confession."

The meetings will close Sunday evening. Decision day will again be observed in the Sunday school Sunday morning and the pastor will preach both morning and evening. Dr. McManahan conducted the singing last evening in the absence of the Rev. L. A. Harriman.

The communication which was received, read and adopted is as follows:

Hon. Will M. Sparks,

President Chamber of Commerce,

I have noted with a great deal of enthusiasm and pleasure the work of forming and organizing the new Chamber of Commerce.

In my opinion we are at last prepared to insure a steady growth for our community in all that is best.

Rushville has for many years been the most beautiful small city in the State. Rush County has been probably the richest agricultural county in the State of Indiana. But have our people been as wide-awake and progressive as those of other communities? Are we not behind in many things which most up-to-date communities already have?

Have we not missed many opportunities of locating new industries; of encouraging those we have, of doing many things which other places not as fortunate as we have labored and struggled for.

Have we not sat around and boasted of our material wealth and neglected many opportunities which we might have seized if we had not been so wrapped in our own conceit. Is boastfulness a mark of efficiency. An expert newspaper writer on the subject of towns said recently in a write up of our city that "Rushville like Topsy, just grewed." What a commentary on our lack of organized effort for the upbuilding of our community. According to the census Rush county has not increased in population for sixty years. A large percent. of our vigorous virile young men and women have for the past half century left our community for larger places and larger activities because of lack of opportunity here.

How have we kept pace with our neighboring cities. New Castle ten years ago had practically half our population. In less than ten years more she will have to double our population.

Look at Connersville and Shelbyville with their magnificent industries and their rapid increase of population.

But I do not desire to criticize or to assume a pessimistic attitude; any community is what its people make it. A city can be built in the same way and by the same methods a large private business is builded. It only requires that the brains energy and wisdom of its best citizens be consecrated to the common cause and the public good.

The new officers, board of directors and committees of the Chamber of Commerce are representative men of the community. They represent varied interests. They are successful men and experienced men. They have all pledged and consecrated themselves to the work of building up this community. If they persist in that determination they will certainly succeed. The common expressions of confidence and good will heard on our streets should assure them that the citizens of this community not only wish them well but desire heartily to cooperate with and support them in every good undertaking they may assume. There are many things which they may perform which will be of lasting and permanent benefit. A few of the well recognized needs of the community are:

1. A good down town auditorium large enough for all public meetings, a place for conventions, concerts, lectures, plays, corn shows, poultry shows, short courses, etc. etc.

2. More paved streets, especially First street to the Big Four Station, Second street to Pennsylvania Station. Third street from Perkins street to C. H. & D. Station. Perhaps one or two more business streets.

3. A Union Depot.

All our railroads are so located that they could easily enter a union depot and maintain offices in common. This would mean a large saving to all the railroads and a great accommodation to our citizens and the traveling public. It would be worth years of effort on the part of any committee which might finally secure this result. The united effort of such a body as the new Chamber of Commerce should at least make the railroads give the project serious consideration.

4. A Carnegie Library Building.

A well housed library is just as essential an institution in a good community as its churches and schools.

Every town in a loop around Rushville to Indianapolis and back again has a library building except Rushville.

Witness, Shelbyville, Greensburg, Brookville, Connersville, Cambridge City, Knightstown, Carthage, Greenfield.

5. Landscape features such as trees, flowers and shrubbery in City Park and Courthouse lawn. The two places in our City which are observed by more visitors, during the year than any other places are the most barren. It need not cost much. A few red geraniums and a few cannas would be some relief.

6. More public meetings.

Rushville's transportation facilities are such that we should attract many conventions and public meetings. A little effort would bring them.

Locally we ought to have a corn show, a poultry show, a farmers short course and a horse show, in addition to the Chautauque and County Fair, each year. All the small towns around us have had meetings of this type the past season while Rushville has had none.

The section of the Chamber of Commerce in charge of this work should be about the busiest committee of the lot.

7. Band Concerts.

Band Concerts are the cheapest and best means of obtaining a crowd in the summertime.

People trade where they are entertained. A permanent band stand should be erected at the northwest corner of the Court House lawn and the concerts begun as soon as the weather permits.

8. Play grounds.

All up-to-date places have public play grounds. Rushville is getting to be so closely built up that there is not a space anywhere near the center of town where children can find room to play. There are no places left where a boy can bat a ball. There ought to be at least three such places inside the City limits.

9. Public schools.

We have a good corps of teachers in our schools but we need more equipment and the enlarging of many lines of work such as Domestic Science and Manual Training Departments, Agricultural Education and the new vocational features, Moving picture machines with educational films, and much up-to-date equipment needs to be installed.

10. A County Agricultural Agent. It will not be long until most of the other counties in the State will be supplied with agents. Rush county should not lag behind and be among the last. There are many ways in which a county agent could co-operate with your various committees.

11. New industries.

Rushville could use many industries especially iron working concerns. No great effort need be made to locate large institutions, but small concerns which will grow in different directions should be located and fostered. Among those suggested are a canning factory, pickle and catsup plants, greenhouses, a wire wheel plant, to make wheels for automobiles.

12. Donations to public institutions. Connersville has recently had donated to the community by public spirited citizens a large park, a fine cemetery, a fine city hospital, a public play ground for children. Such a spirit seems to be contagious when once aroused yet no person ever gave Rushville anything. There are many people in Rushville and Rush county with no direct heirs dependent upon them who might leave behind them monuments of enduring fame by donating their means to such noble purposes as those designated by persons of large means in other common-like cities. There is not a public drinking fountain, park, playground, museum, hall, set of chimneys, library building, gymnasium, band stand, picture gallery or like institution in Rushville created by private or public means. A good active committee might secure any or a number of these from our public spirited citizens, who wish to leave enduring memorials more permanent than those builded of marble or granite.

These are only a few voluntary suggestions. There are many others which initiative and ingenuity on the part of your committees will suggest.

Let us all wish for the Chamber of Commerce long life and an abundant measure of success. Meanwhile deprecating all unjust criticism and pledging our earnest and enthusiastic encouragement and support.

RISE TO FAME OF S. WEIR MITCHELL

Was Most Noted Philadelphian Since Benjamin Franklin.

LONG ACTIVE IN TWO FIELDS.

Celebrated as an Author and Physician. Pursued His Investigations of Nervous Disorders Along Original Lines. Was Opposed to Asylums For the Incarceration of the Insane.

The late Dr. Silas Weir Mitchell, the famous Philadelphia author and physician who died in his eighty-fifth year, long ago achieved distinction that made him conspicuous in contemporary history as a man without either predecessor or compeer in the varied quality of his genius. He was the most celebrated Philadelphian since Benjamin Franklin.

Dr. Mitchell's fame both as a physician and author was international, although he probably was more widely known as a writer of fiction. His last book appeared a few months ago under the title of "Westways." His first novel, "In War Times," was published when he was fifty-three years old.

In 1862 he began his three years' work as an army surgeon, having special charge of soldiers suffering from nervous disorders and wounds involving the nervous system. This was perhaps the beginning of a career that gained for him a worldwide reputation as a neurologist.

Dr. Mitchell explored fields hitherto untrodden by any member of the medical profession.

"Health through repose" was Dr. Mitchell's idea of curing nervous prostration.

An Interesting Anecdote.

An incident, variously related, will serve to indicate his eminence as a physician. This is the version as attributed to Dr. Mitchell himself:

An American, suffering from some nervous disorder, journeyed to Italy to consult a celebrated neurologist.

"But you are from America?" said the Italian.

"Yes."

"Why not, then, take the vermicelli treatment?"

"What's that?" inquired the patient.

"What! You don't know the treatment of Dr. Weir Mitchell?"

And the Italian sent the American home to be cured.

The story as related by friends of Dr. Mitchell is to the effect that the physician himself while visiting Paris suffered a recurrence of a nervous ailment attributed to overwork. Without divulging his identity, he called on a specialist with whose name he was familiar as being that of a man famous in both hemispheres.

"I see that you are an American," remarked the French physician.

"Yes," replied Dr. Mitchell, "I am."

"And from what city do you come?"

"Philadelphia," said the visitor.

"And do you mean to say that you, a resident of Philadelphia, come to me to be treated when there resides in your home city the most famous nerve specialist in the world?"

"To whom do you refer?" asked the author.

"To Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, of course," replied the specialist, "and to think that you have never heard of him!"

An Enemy of Insane Asylums.

In 1894 Dr. Mitchell began a crusade against insane asylums, saying they were the worst possible places for the insane. Life in them was deadly; they were like prisons, he said. For many years he pursued his studies of snake venom, and he handled thousands of rattlesnakes. As a side topic he took up the subject of human fear of cats. He maintained that there were many persons who could tell the presence of a cat even if it was hidden and unseen. The fear, he suggested, was a trait inherited from remote ancestors. He also studied strange drugs, and for science's sake he put himself under the influence of mescal, the intoxicating drug of the New Mexico Indians.

Finds Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Creston, Iowa.—"I suffered with female troubles from the time I came into womanhood until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I would have pains if I overworked or lifted anything heavy, and I would be so weak and nervous and in so much misery that I would be prostrated. A friend told me what your medicine had done for her and I tried it. It made me strong and healthy and our home is now happy with a baby boy. I am very glad that I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and do all I can to recommend it."—Mrs. A. B. BOSCAM, 504 E. Howard Street, Creston, Iowa.

Tons of Roots and Herbs are used annually in the manufacture of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is known from ocean to ocean as the standard remedy for female ills.

For forty years this famous root and herb medicine has been pre-eminently successful in controlling the diseases of women. Merit alone could have stood this test of time.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

The Abysmal Brute

By JACK LONDON

Copyright, 1913, by The Century Co.

As a result of his fight with Kelly, though the general opinion was that he had won by a fluke, Pat was matched with Rufe Mason. This took place three weeks later, and the Sierra club audience at Dreamland rink failed to see what happened.

Rufe Mason was a heavyweight, noted locally for his cleverness. When the gong for the first round sounded both men met in the center of the ring. Neither rushed. Nor did they strike a blow.

They felt around each other, their arms bent, their gloves so close together that they almost touched. This lasted for perhaps five seconds.

Then it happened, and so quickly that not one in a hundred of the audience saw. Rufe Mason made a feint with his right. It was obviously not a real feint, but a feeler, a mere tentative threatening of a possible blow.

It was at this instant that Pat loosed his punch. So close together were they that the distance the blow traveled was a scant eight inches. It was a short arm left jolt, and it was accomplished by a twist of the left forearm and a thrust of the shoulder.

It landed flush on the point of the chin, and the astounded audience saw Rufe Mason's legs crumple under him as his body sank to the floor. But the referee had seen, and he promptly proceeded to count him out.

Again Pat carried his opponent to his corner, and it was ten minutes be-pressing proclivity for flukes.

So it was that his fourth match was arranged with Pete Sosso, a Portuguese fighter from Butchertown, known only for the amazing tricks he played in the ring.

Pat did not train for the fight. Instead he made a flying and sorrowful trip to the mountains to bury his father. Old Pat had known well the condition of his heart, and it had stopped suddenly on him.

Young Pat arrived back in San Francisco with so close a margin of time that he changed into his fighting togs directly from his traveling suit, and even then the audience was kept waiting ten minutes.

"Remember, give him a chance," Stubener cautioned him as he climbed through the ropes. "Play with him, but do it seriously. Let him go ten or twelve rounds, then get him."

Pat obeyed instructions, and, though it would have been easy enough to put Sosso out, so tricky was he that to stand up to him and not put him out kept his hands full.

It was a pretty exhibition, and the audience was delighted. Sosso's whirlwind attacks, wild feints, retreats and rushes required all Pat's science to protect himself, and even then he did not escape unscathed.

Stubener praised him in the minute rests, and all would have been well had not Sosso in the fourth round played one of his most spectacular tricks.

Pat, in a mixup, had landed a hook to Sosso's jaw, when to his amazement the latter dropped his hands and reeled backward, eyes rolling, legs bending and giving, in a high state of grogginess.

Pat could not understand. It had not been a knockout blow, and yet there was his man all ready to fall to the mat. Pat dropped his own hands and wonderingly watched his reeling opponent. Sosso staggered away, almost fell, recovered, and staggered obliquely and blindly forward again.

For the first and the last time in his fighting career Pat was caught off his guard. He actually stepped aside to let the reeling man go by. Still reeling, Sosso suddenly loosed his right. Pat received it full on his jaw with an impact that rattled all his teeth.

A great roar of delight went up from the audience. But Pat did not hear. He saw only Sosso before him, grinning and defiant, and not the least bit groggy. Pat was hurt by the blow, but vastly more outraged by the trick.

All the wrath that his father ever had surged up in him. He shook his head as if to get rid of the shock of the blow and steadied himself before his man. It all occurred in the next second. With a feint that drew his opponent, Pat fetched his left to the solar plexus, almost at the same instant whipping his right across to the jaw.

The latter blow landed on Sosso's mouth ere his falling body struck the floor. The club doctors worked half an hour to bring him to. After that they put eleven stitches in his mouth and packed him off in an ambulance.

"I'm sorry," Pat told his manager. "I'm afraid I lost my temper. I'll never do it again in the ring. Dad always cautioned me about it. He said it had made him lose more than one battle. I didn't know I could lose my temper that way. But now that I know I'll keep it in control."

And Stubener believed him. He was coming to the stage where he could believe anything about his young charge.

"You don't need to get angry," he said. "You're so thoroughly the master of your man at any stage."

"At any inch or second of the fight," Pat affirmed.

"And you can put them out any time you want."

"Sure I can. I don't want to boast, but I just seem to possess the ability. My eyes show me the opening that my skill knows how to make, and time and distance are second nature to me. Dad called it a gift, but I thought he was blarneying me. Now that I've been up against these men, I guess he was right. He said I had the mind and muscle correlation."

"At any inch or second of the fight," Stubener repeated musingly.

Pat nodded, and Stubener, absolutely believing him, caught a vision of a golden future that should have fetched old Pat out of his grave.

"Well, don't forget, we've got to give the crowd a run for its money," he said. "We'll fix it up between us how many rounds a fight should go. Now your next bout will be with the Flying Dutchman. Suppose you let it run the full fifteen and put him out in the last round. That will give you a chance to make a showing as well."

"All right, Sam," was the answer. "It will be a test for you," Stubener warned. "You may fail to put him out in that last round."

"Watch me," Pat paused to put weight to his promise and picked up a volume of Longfellow. "If I don't I'll never read poetry again, and that's going some."

"You bet it is," his manager proclaimed jubilantly, "though what you see in such stuff is beyond me."

Pat sighed, but did not reply. In all his life he had found but one person who cared for poetry, and that had been the red haired schoolteacher who scared him off into the woods.

"Where are you going?" Stubener demanded in surprise, looking at his watch.

Pat, with his hand on the doorknob, paused and turned around.

"To the Academy of Sciences," he said. "There's a professor who's going to give a lecture there on Browning tonight, and Browning is the sort of writer you need assistance with. Sometimes I think I ought to go to night school."

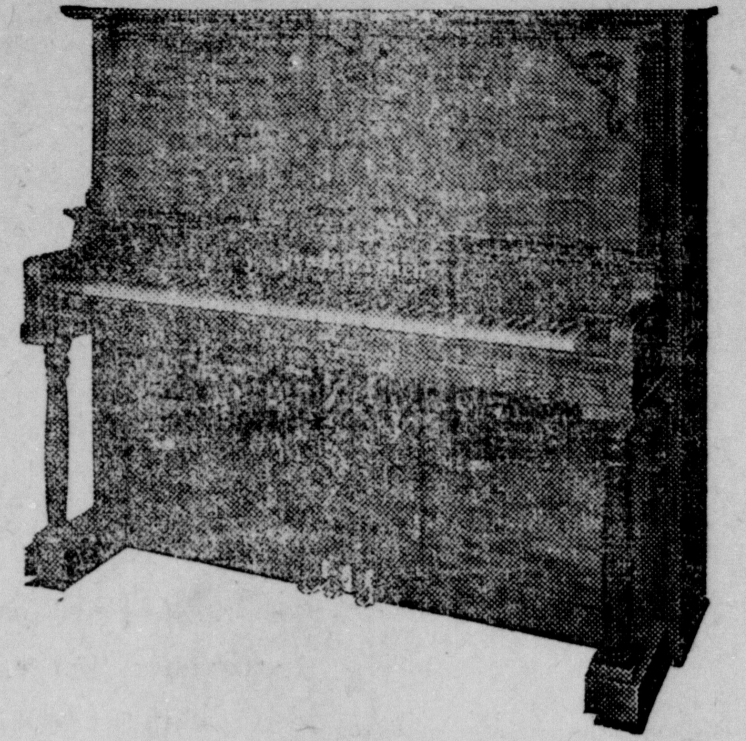

"But, great Scott, man!" exclaimed the horrified manager, "You're on with the Flying Dutchman tonight!"

PHONES — Store 1336. Residence 1299

"You know he's never yet been knocked out by any one."

"I know it. But I won't enter the ring a moment before half past 9 or quarter to 10. The lecture will be over at 9:15. If you want to make sure come around and pick me up in your machine."

Stubener shrugged his shoulders helplessly.

"You've got no kick coming," Pat assured him. "Dad used to tell me a man's worst time was in the hours just before a fight and that many a fight was lost by a man's breaking down right there, with nothing to do but think and be anxious. Well, you'll never need to worry about me that way. You ought to be glad I can go off to a lecture."

And later that night, in the course of watching fifteen splendid rounds, Stubener chuckled to himself more than once at the idea of what that audience of sports would think, did it know that this magnificent young prizefighter had come to the ring directly from a Browning lecture.

The Flying Dutchman was a young Swede, who possessed an unwonted willingness to fight and who was blessed with phenomenal endurance.

He never rested, was always on the offensive and rushed and fought from gong to gong. In the outfighting his arms whirled about like tails; in the in-fighting he was forever shouldering or half wrestling and starting blows whenever he could get a hand free.

From start to finish he was a whirlwind, hence his name. His falling was lack of judgment in time and distance. Nevertheless he had won many fights by virtue of landing one in each dozen or so of the unending fusillades of punches he delivered.

Pat, with strong upon him the caution that he must not put his opponent out, was kept busy. Nor, though he escaped vital damage, could he avoid entirely those eternal flying gloves. But it was good training, and in a mild way he enjoyed the contest.

"Could you get him now?" Stubener whispered in his ear during the minute rest at the end of the fifth round.

"Sure," was Pat's answer.

"You know he's never yet been knocked out by any one," Stubener warned a couple of rounds later.

"Then I'm afraid I'll have to break my knuckles," Pat smiled. "I know the punch I've got in me, and when I land it something has got to go. If he won't my knuckles will."

"Do you think you could get him now?" Stubener asked at the end of the thirteenth round.

"Any time, I tell you."

"Well, then, Pat, let him run to the fifteenth."

In the fourteenth round the Flying Dutchman exceeded himself. At the stroke of the gong he rushed clear across the ring to the opposite corner, where Pat was leisurely getting to his feet.

The house cheered, for it knew the Flying Dutchman had cut loose. Pat, catching the fun of it, whimsically decided to meet the terrific onslaught with a wholly passive defense and not to strike a blow. Nor did he strike a blow nor feint a blow during the three minutes of whirlwind that followed.

POLICE AT DANCE HALLS

Will Have Supervision of Public Places in Marion.

(By United Press.)

Marion, Ind., March 21.—Mayor Batchelor has ordered that all public dance halls be conducted under the supervision of the police. In his announcement he said that the "public dances, where anybody and everybody can go," were the root of all evil in Marion. The mayor has taken no steps against private dances, believing that the main trouble is with the public variety. His action followed the arrest of two married women on statutory charges.

VISITING DAY.

Yesterday was visiting day at the Havens school and a large number of the patrons of the school took the opportunity of visiting the school. A special program was given, followed by a fire drill. The 250 pupils of the building were on the street in two minutes after the alarm was sounded.

The Republican Company has a limited supply of pencil scratch tablets, 4x7, 100 sheets to pad, they will close out at 3 for 5c or 7 for 10c.

ANNUAL INDOOR MEET TONIGHT

Pick of Western University Athletes Gather in Evanston For Conference Event.

HIGH JUMP PROMISES MUCH

New Short Dash Records May be Made as There is Class in This Department.

(By United Press.)

Evanston, Ill., Mar. 21.—Two hundred athletes, the pick of the track and field men of middle western universities, arrived here today to participate in the annual indoor track and field meet of the western conference, to be held in Patten gymnasium tonight. With them came several hundred rooters from Madison, Champaign, Lafayette, Chicago and university centers within a radius of 200 miles.

Wisconsin, Illinois, Chicago and Northwestern are favored for first place. They have the largest lists of entrants, each of the other conference schools—Minnesota, Ohio state, Iowa, Indiana and Purdue—having entered only a handful of stars with a view of pulling down individual victories.

Short dash records for the conference indoor affairs may go tonight when Tormey of Wisconsin, Knight of Chicago, Murray of Illinois, and Spink of Minnesota, clash on the saucer track. Tormey is the veteran of the bunch with Knight and Murray touted as comers who may displace the Badger star.

Consistent performances, but not far above the average, are expected in the distance events. White and Harvey of Wisconsin, Campbell and Goodwin of Chicago; Kraft and Traxler of Northwestern, Mason and Belknap of Illinois, and Spray of Purdue, are the shining lights in these events.

The quarter and half-milers are of better class. Osborne of Northwestern, is one of the best men in the country in the middle-distance events, but he will be pushed hard by Campbell of Chicago; Schley of Wisconsin, Sanders and Henderson of Illinois, and Parsons of Iowa.

Pittenger, an Ohio State star, is touted to win the hurdles with Thomas of Chicago, and Legler of Wisconsin, the next best men entered, on the strength of previous performances. Neither the hurdles, nor the shot-put are expected to develop any record-breaking performances.

With five men capable of clearing the bar at six feet or a shade better, the high-jump promises to be one of the most sensational contests of tonight's meet. Wahl of Wisconsin, James of Northwestern, Cox and Gorgas of Chicago, and Clear of Illinois, are the best performers.

WILL BUILD TABERNACLE

Kokomo Planning For Revival Meeting by Dr. Lyons.

(By United Press.)

Kokomo, Ind., March 21.—Plans are rapidly going forward for the tabernacle to be built here for the Lyons revival meetings, which will begin May 17 and continue for six weeks. The tabernacle will seat 5,000.

An attempt will be made here to equal the Lyons revivals held at Muncie and Marion. Dr. Lyons is now in Logansport and successful meetings are reported. The ministers and laymen here are united in their work for a successful revival.

HOUSE ALERT.

(By United Press.)

As the head of one of the largest temperance movements in the world "Catch-my-Pal" Patterson is a figure as important as interesting and his coming is an event of true international significance.

The National Reform Association, with headquarters at 209 Ninth street, Pittsburg, Pa., is now directing a militant international war on rum and the visit of Dr. Patterson here is a definite part of the world-wide campaign planned by Dr. James S. Martin, general superintendent of the National Reform Association.

YOU GET EXTRA VALUE

For Every Yard of LaPorte Dress Goods You Buy

There have been many ideas and schemes of more or less profit-sharing value been advanced by business concerns during the past years—but in our judgment, few if any ever possessed the simple, practical, money saving advantages of the La Porte Woolen Mill's 50th Anniversary Event.

By Far The Most Pronounced Advantage of this event to you is found in the great variety of ordinarily high priced Dress Fabrics which you now buy at prices of ordinary styles.

THE LAPORTE TRADE MARK IS YOUR PROTECTION AGAINST UNSATISFACTORY DRESS GOODS

The style qualities, color fastness and service of LaPorte fabrics are so well known by our customers that little further comment would seem necessary we would say, however, that no detail of the manufacture of these goods is neglected.

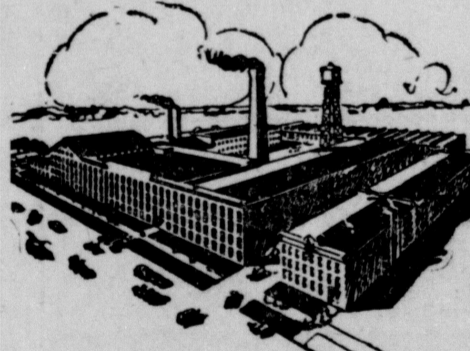

Whatever you select in our dress goods department is as near perfect as possible. We guarantee satisfaction to all customers, otherwise we are always ready to refund the money.

IN VIEW OF THE INCREASING DEMAND

For better grades in Dress and Wash Fabrics the patrons of our Dress Goods Department will surely indorse and be greatly benefited by this event, which brings such an exceptional variety of unusually expensive dress and wash goods styles within the price reach of every interested woman.

THE SCOPE OF CREPE WEAVES HAS NEVER BEEN SO LARGE as it is this season. Beginning with the Silk and Wool Crepes and Worsted Crepes, so deservedly popular for tailored suits, you will find the same general styles beautifully retained in silk and wool as well as cotton fabrics. The most noted example of the trend of fashion is found in many beautiful Crepe de Chines, Accordion Crepes, Brocade Crepe de Chines and other fabrics of the crepe idea included in this display.

Whether for Dress, Afternoon, Visiting, House, Party, Evening or Business wear you will find the material best suited to your dress needs here. LET US SHOW YOU THESE NEW STYLES. Our prices are so reasonable you can well afford to buy enough for two Spring Dresses instead of one.

FOR FIFTY YEARS THIS GREAT MILL HAS PRODUCED NOTHING BUT DRESS GOODS LEADERS

Isn't it only reasonable to believe that an organization of Dress Goods Specialists, catering exclusively to the Style requirements of American women for half a hundred years, Successfully, Must know how to satisfy your requirements. Come in and let us show you the LaPorte 50th Anniversary Styles. Compare prices and judge their distinctive merits for yourself.

Instead of "special rebates," "prize offers," "premiums," or "souvenirs" the idea back of this birthday celebration is to put the cost of such commonplace novelties into extra value and give our customers full benefit.
